

Capital Markets Infusion Practice

The digital architect of tomorrow's capital markets.

Your innovation partner for capital markets

Capital markets firms are dealing with a wide range of challenges – new regulatory demands, margin pressures, market electrification, and evolving client needs. Even the largest global banks and asset managers often struggle to manage these evolving issues while maintaining their competitive edge.

Against this backdrop, technology presents both the problem and the solution. While outdated, legacy technologies can hold firms back, new, innovative digital solutions can propel capital markets firms into the future.

Here is how we help you. Our teams of problem solvers and creative strategists are transforming leading buy- and sell-side firms. Many of the world's largest capital markets firms rely on Avanade's skilled teams and innovative technology solutions to future-proof their businesses.

From engaging UX design to highly complex trading and compliance systems, Avanade leverages advanced technologies to help firms navigate current and future business challenges and achieve results:

- Designing sleek digital user experiences
- Creating custom trading applications and tools
- Improving the agent / broker process
- Simplifying and streamlining compliance
- Developing single dealer platforms
- Automating and electrifying trades

With a proven track record of creating transformative solutions for many of the world's top banks and investment managers, our strategists are your partners. We dive deep into the particular business challenges you face.
