

Global asset management company wants to make collaboration quicker and easier

Business situation

- Top 50 global asset manager
- Workforce has mostly highly distributed, high-value mobile knowledge-workers
- Wanted state-of-the-art collaboration environment and roadmap for the future

Global asset management company improves collaboration process for high value, mobile employees

Employees have multiple options to connect across the organization, virtually or in-person.

Karen, an asset manager, can easily find her colleagues worldwide. She can utilize her global network to find, contribute and share information.

John, an executive, can build a progressive work environment that makes it easy to get work done and helps set their workplace apart from its competitors.

How does it work? Avanade is delivering...

- A state-of-the-art, collaborative platform to better serve customers and business partners
- A foundation for improved decision-making through digitized information management
- Improved social networking capabilities for employees to work effortlessly regardless of location